A. Details we need from you

We cannot create your account until block A1 is complete. Everything in A2 can follow later.

A1. To create the account (required)

Field	What it means	Example
Registered business name	Exactly as printed on your BIR Certificate of Registration (Form 2303)	Juan Dela Cruz Coffee Co.
Trade name	The name customers see on the receipt, if different	Kape Central
Company code	Short code your staff type when signing in on the till app. Lowercase, no spaces	kapecentral
Owner full name	The person who holds the owner login	Juan Dela Cruz
Owner email	Used to log in and to reset the password	juan@kapecentral.ph
BIR TIN	000-000-000-000 or 000-000-000-00000, exactly as on your COR	010-986-552-000
VAT status	VAT-registered / Non-VAT / not yet BIR-registered. See Section E	VAT
Registered address	As printed on your COR	Naga City, Camarines Sur
Contact number	For support and account recovery	0917-000-0000

A2. To set up your shop (can follow)

Item	Notes
Branches	Name of each outlet. One is fine to start.
Staff	Name, role (cashier / manager) and email for everyone who will log in.
Menu and prices	Every drink and food item with its selling price.
Ingredients and costs	Beans, milk, syrups, cups, with cost per unit.
Recipes	How much of each ingredient goes into each drink. This is what makes profit-per-cup real.
Suppliers	Name, TIN, contact, payment terms.
Opening balances	Your trial balance as of go-live day: cash, inventory, payables, capital.
Receipt details	Anything BIR requires printed on your sales document: ATP / PTU number, MIN, serial range (see Section H).

B. The order to load your data

Order matters. Recipes reference products and ingredients by name, so those must exist first. Loading out of order produces rows that fail with "not found".

#	Load this	Where	What it creates
1	Chart of Accounts (only if you need extra accounts)	Ledger > Chart of Accounts	About 196 PH-standard accounts are already built in. Most cafes need none.
2	Products	POS > Products	Your menu items and prices.
3	Ingredients	Settings > Imports: download the template, fill it in, then "Import" on the same row.	Raw materials with cost per unit.
4	Recipes	Settings > Imports: "Import" on the Recipes row. Preps made in batches go in first, on their own row.	Links each drink to its ingredients. Needs 2 and 3 first.
5	Suppliers	Ledger > Vendors page (we open it with you)	Your suppliers.
6	Customers (only if you sell on credit)	Ledger > Invoices > Customers	Charge accounts.
7	Opening balances	Ledger > Journal > Trial Balance Import	Your starting financial position.

Tip

Upload two or three rows first, check them on screen, then upload the rest.

C. Rules that keep the import clean

About the example rows

Example rows start with "SAMPLE - " and are ignored on import - leave them or delete them, either is safe. Add your real rows below.

Filling in the cells

- Amounts: commas and peso signs are fine. 1,250.50 and PHP 1,250.50 both import correctly.
- Dates: type them as YYYY-MM-DD (for example 2026-08-31). Other formats can be read as the wrong month.
- Do NOT use Excel formulas such as =600/250. Type the final number.
- Names must match exactly across files. "Whole Milk" in Ingredients must be spelled the same in Recipes.
- Keep the file as .xlsx. Saving the Setup Pack as .csv deletes every sheet but one.
- Do not add, remove or reorder columns. The importer reads them by position.
- For phone numbers and barcodes that start with zero, format the column as Text before typing.
- Give every product a Category (Coffee, Pastry, and so on). Categories drive drink-station tickets and your sales reports.

D. Known limitations (as of today)

Stated up front so nothing surprises you mid-onboarding. The items below are still open and we will work around them together.

Area	What to know	What we will do
Sizes and add-ons	Recipes import at product level only. Small/Medium/Large or an extra-shot add-on cannot be imported.	Import the base drink, then set sizes and add-ons on screen with you.
Opening stock	The Inventory import sets quantities but does not post them to the ledger, and covers products only, not ingredients.	We load the accounting side through the Trial Balance import.
Re-uploading a file	Re-uploading a corrected Recipes file does not remove lines you deleted.	Tell us before re-uploading and we clear the old rows first.
Opening balances	Use the Trial Balance import for opening balances. It checks your accounts and posts all-or-nothing.	We will run this one with you.

E. About your VAT question

You asked whether we can pause the VAT charges. Two different questions are hiding in that, and they have different answers.

In the software

Yes. Clerque can run a shop as VAT-registered, Non-VAT, or not yet BIR-registered, and that changes what is computed and what prints on your receipt.

In law

If you are VAT-registered with the BIR, VAT cannot simply be paused.

While your registration says VAT, you are required to charge 12% output VAT, show it on your invoices and receipts, and file your VAT returns. Setting Clerque to Non-VAT while your BIR registration still says VAT would print non-compliant receipts and understate your output VAT. That exposure sits with you, not with the software.

What you can actually do

- Ask your accountant whether you should change your registration from VAT to Non-VAT. That is a BIR filing (Form 1905), not a settings toggle.
- It is generally only available if your gross sales for the past 12 months do not exceed PHP 3,000,000. If you registered for VAT voluntarily, a lock-in period normally applies before you may change.
- Non-VAT does not mean no tax. You would pay percentage tax on gross sales instead, and file that return.
- Until the BIR approves any change, we set your account to VAT so your receipts stay correct. We can switch it the day your 1905 is approved.

This is general information, not tax advice. HNS Corp PH is not your licensed tax agent. Please confirm with your accountant or the BIR before deciding.

H. What Clerque is and is not, for BIR purposes

Plain-language summary of how Clerque behaves around BIR sales documents, so there is no confusion on go-live day.

1. Clerque prints the document that matches YOUR registration, not ours

Your situation	What Clerque prints at the till
Not yet BIR-registered	Acknowledgement Receipt.
BIR-registered, but Clerque is not yet authorised for your sales document (no ATP / PTU / MIN for it)	Acknowledgement Receipt, marked "NOT A SALES INVOICE OR OFFICIAL RECEIPT - FOR INTERNAL MANAGEMENT USE ONLY".
BIR-registered AND Clerque authorised for your sales document (PTU / MIN on file)	Sales Invoice, with a VAT line if you are VAT-registered. We switch this on for you once your PTU / MIN is on file.

2. On go-live you are in the middle case

Keep issuing your existing BIR-registered sales documents exactly as today. Do not stop them.

Clerque is your POS, inventory, recipe costing and books. The slip it prints is for your internal management use. Your customers must still receive your existing BIR-registered sales document (your current invoice / receipt series) for every sale.

3. Whose authority covers what

- HNS Corporation Philippines' own SEC / BIR registration covers HNS's invoice to you for the Clerque subscription. It does not authorise your till.
- Authority for YOUR sales document is yours to obtain from your RDO (ATP for printed documents, PTU / MIN for a computerised POS).
- When you decide to apply, we supply the system documentation the BIR asks for with your application.

4. Books of accounts

If Clerque is to become your computerised books of accounts, that is a separate BIR registration (Acknowledgement Certificate / Computerised Accounting System path). It is not a go-live decision, and nothing in this pack starts it.

This is general information, not tax advice. Please confirm with your accountant or your RDO. Invoicing rules changed under RA 11976 (Ease of Paying Taxes Act); what applies to you depends on your registration and your RDO's guidance.
